

Help us help others. Be part of our research study.

W UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

When you have a rare genetic condition, you hear a lot about that one gene or chromosome. We want to learn about your full genetic background and your family background so we can understand you better and create the right interventions for people with genetic conditions like yours.

You and your biological family members may be eligible to participate in our study from home by filling out online surveys and completing a telehealth or in-person visit with research staff. We'll compensate participants who complete the study with Amazon gift cards.

Ready to get started? Call research coordinator Maggie Johansson at 206-616-2889 or email maggiej1@uw.edu. Reference your genetic change so we can best help you get started.

IRB NUMBER: 2019-0115

IRB Approved: 7/15/2020